

App Inventor Futures -- A Gaze through Jeff's Crystal Ball

An informal discussion about future directions we might take with MIT App Inventor. We'll discuss some of the things that we know we can do, that we think we may be able to do and things that the future may hold. We will be interested in feedback about what people believe are really important.